Puglia, the heel of Italy's boot, stretches across two seas: the Adriatic to the East and the Ionian to the South-West. This strategic position, combined with more than 800 kilometers of beautiful coastline, has shaped the region's history and enhancement. Puglia is nowadays known as the natural gateway to the Eastern Mediterranean basin. A territory radiating ancient art and long-lost civilizations where Roman and Greek archaeological remains lie amid masterpieces of medieval architecture, with castles and noble Palazzi, historic boroughs and Baroque churches – Puglia sports no less than four UNESCO World Heritage Sites: Frederick Hohenstaufen's mysterious Castel del Monte; the unique Trulli of Alberobello; the mystical Lombard Sanctuary of Monte Sant'Angelo; and the latest addition, the Primeval Beech Forests of the Foresta Umbra. These enthralling locations enshrine centuries of history and culture, oozing beauty, spirituality and delivering peerless emotions. Valleys of green, rolling hills provide a magical setting for scenic villages surrounded by lush olive groves and vineyards.

Miles of coastline give way to tiny harbors dominated by fortresses and lighthouses crossed by white, sandy beaches with crystal-clear waters. Our land's magical atmosphere inspired many international film makers. Travelers are captured by countless events and summer festivals under Puglia's starry sky. This region combines ancient traditions with a modern lifestyle. Even in small towns, glamorous fashion shops line the main streets while gourmet groceries delight travelers and passers-by with enticing scents and flavors. Apulians' warm hospitality makes travelers feel at home: our folks, the Pugliesi, welcome newcomers with a friendly smile and an open heart. Antique farmhouses are transformed into beautiful resorts, while the pristine sea, the art cities and the uniquely Apulian food & wine experience conquers the hearts of international celebrities. Easy to reach from any European capital with several direct flights to Bari and Brindisi, Puglia is becoming increasingly cosmopolitan, and downright fashionable for world travelers.

GARGANO AND DAUNIA

What if in August you find yourself on an almost deserted beach or eating fish on a stilt house on the water? That would not be an exotic place, but simply Gargano, the most northern part of Puglia.

Maybe you parked at Bosco Isola passing the Mediterranean vegetation which separates the sea from lake Varano. From there you can see Isole Tremiti, an hour by boat from Rodi Garganico or 20 minutes by helicopter leaving from Foggia. Be castaway for one day around bays, caves, cliffs, towers and multicoloured seabeds. Along the coast from Vieste to Peschici you will find giant structures submerged in the sea: ancient "trabucchi", extraordinary fishing systems which today became restaurants on the sea. For accommodation, there are restored houses in Vico del Gargano with many hotels in its historic centre. You are in the heart of the Oasi Agrumaria and the Umbra Forest, in between the most beautiful areas of the Gargano National Park.

The road from Vieste to Manfredonia offers a crystal sea just like the bay of Pugnochiuso and of Vignanotica. But Gargano it's also a religious land full of Christian devotion, with the Sanctuary of San Michele and Monte Sant'Angelo (Unesco World Heritage site), Padre Pio in S. Giovanni Rotondo. A little known route running on the Monti Dauni, is the one that leads to a city with a glorious past named Lucera, close to one of the most beautiful villages in Italy known as Bovino, winding through beautiful cathedrals such as the ones in Troia. Forget time and indulge in a slow trip, become seekers of culinary treats and sample the 'piatti della memoria'. Around you are sun-scorched hills, lush forests and gardens of lost flavors.

IMPERIAL PUGLIA

Wide horizons, bold colours, sometimes harsh and a bit lunar. Such is the landscape of Murgia, in the Puglia Imperiale, dominated by the presence of Frederick II and by three artistic cities with a glorious past: Barletta, Andria and Trani.

Discover it by slowly cycling or driving through olive groves, trekking in the summer evenings. Such a place to be admired is the enclosed Valle d'Ofanto where you find the longest river in the region, the Adriatic Sea and at the top of the hill Alta Murgia National Park, stretching mostly in Bari territory. It is a Limestone plateau, with wide fields and rocky outcrops, grassland characterized by sheep paths, ancient carob trees, bushes of lentiscus plant and colourful wild orchids in spring. The rare lesser kestrel flies above the imposing castles and the stern Castel del Monte, a World Heritage Site. Among the splendid Romanesque cathedrals is the admirable one in Trani giving the impression of being suspended above the sea. Experience the history of important archaeological areas in Canosa di Puglia and Canne della Battaglia, where Hannibal inflicted to the Romans a terrible defeat.

If you are true lovers of gastronomy, Puglia Imperiale is the right place for you: try DOC wines such as the red Canosa, red Barletta and the sweet Moscato di Trani. Enjoy the authentic cuisine, featuring the wild vegetables of the Murgia, the cardoncello mushroom, the lampascioni (wild onions) and the mozzarella and burrata from Andria. If you're looking for a sense of well-being, Margherita di Savoia is renowned for its spa and famous for its salt plains, the most extensive in Europe. If you love nature, do not miss the bird watching experience along the Sentiero Airone in the State Reserve: stretching over 4,000 hectares, it is home for more than 30,000 specimens of birds every year, including herons, avocets, "cavalieri d'Italia" and pink flamingos.

BARI AND ITS COASTLINE

Ribbons of golden sand, fishing ports and towns perched on steep coastline. Wind and sea caressing the walls and palaces of Bari throughout the longest seafront in Italy.

Look up while walking in Bari and you'll find out buildings designed umbertino or littorio style, or liberty such as the Kursaal Santa Lucia Theatre, eclectics like the Provincial Government Building or the Albergo delle Nazioni monument. Walking through Bari old town, from the Basilica to the San Sabino Cathedral, discover a series of cloisters, convents, churches, craft shops and bakeries. In the evening, the heart of the nightlife surrounds the piazza's close to the sea-walls. Move a bit north to Giovinazzo and Molfetta for a walk in their old town with narrow streets overlooked by churches and elegant palaces. Then move south along Bari coastline and be amazed by Polignano a Mare, the hometown of Domenico Modugno and the sculptor Pino Pascali, to whom is dedicated the contemporary art museum. Along San Vito and Cala Paura bays the coastline is dotted with caves, coves and cliffs. Explore Monopoli historic centre: a maze of narrow streets that wind between buildings and tower houses. Visit Carlo V Castle, whose rooms house exhibitions, concerts and shows, then take a swim in the famous beach with sand dunes and inlets, Capitolo. Relax then in the most exclusive beach bars and enjoy the excellent "pugliese sushi": grouper, shrimps and sea urchins. Leave behind the sea and head inland, getting lost between the green almond and olive hills towards Conversano, home to the tastiest variety of cherries, the "Ferrovia". Noicattaro along with Rutigliano and Adelfia are known as the "hollow gold" area of Puglia where the land is full of cultivated vineyards, whose grapes are known as "Vittoria" and other famous world varieties.

MAGNA GRAECIA, MURCIA AND GRAVINE

Here, the rock is the absolute highlight. Deep crevasses, underground ravines, natural caves, mid-air terraces and steep slopes.

You have the feeling of being in an American canyon while you find yourself in the Alta Murgia Barese and the Gravine tarantine.

Gravina in Puglia overlooks a ravine and is home to the Alta Murgia National Park. Among the many churches made of rock, don't miss San Michele. Altamura is famous for its "Dop" bread for its over 30.000 Dinosaur Footprints in the Pontrelli quarry. Fascinating is also the "Uomo di Altamura", the skeleton of an hominid who lived about 250 thousand years ago. Horse ride down the first stretch of "Ippovia dei Trulli e della Murgia", arriving in Cassano, passing through Mercadante forest. Stop by Gioia del Colle if you're fond of mozzarella and burrata cheese, and in Santeramo for a taste of horse meat in the "ready ovens". Further south in Parco delle Gravine, which surrounds the Gulf of Taranto, there is Laterza, famous for its bread and its 12 km long canyon, the largest in Europe. Mottola deserves a visit for the cripta di San Nicola with its great fresco of the Last Judgement; in Massafra you can take a tour of the rock-cut churches from the 10th and 11th centuries. Crispiano is the town of a hundred farms while Castellaneta Marina embraces you with its Aleppo pine forests, white beaches and crystal clear sea, besides its thalassotherapy spas and gulf fields. Taranto, the ancient capital of the Greek Empire is only 15 minutes away. A swing bridge divides the Old town from the New Town, which lies on an island. One of the most important National Archaeological Museums in Italy is the MarTa museum, where you can admire the outstanding collection of goldsmith's, "Ori di Taranto". After, you can reach Grottaglie and take walk in the ceramics quarter, famous throughout the world.

ITRIA VALLEY

Countryside populated all year long, characterized by “trulli” and dry stonewalls that surround vineyards and olive groves as far as the eye can see. This is what the Valle d’Itria looks like.

The scenery is magic. To enjoy it all you have to cross towns like Alberobello, a UNESCO world heritage site with its 1.400 trulli or Locorotondo, which takes its name from the circular plan of the town, dominated by cummerse, the ancient buildings with slanted roofs. The medieval centre of Cisternino evokes the image of an oriental village with its houses painted lime and oil burners next to slaughterhouses, where you can taste “bombette” and “gnumaridde” meat.

In summertime take a trip to the beautiful baroque town of Martina Franca and attend the Festival della Valle d’Itria, which offers many unpublished opera. The charming plain of Fasano, teeming with olive groves and close to the sea, is full of beautiful farmhouses transformed into spa resorts with golf courses and relaxing treatments only a few steps from Egnazia, one of the most important archaeological sites in Italy. Among Torre San Leonardo and Torre Canne meet the Parco Regionale delle Dune Costiere, a surprising landscape stretching over 1.100 hectares with a variety of habitats: from the beautiful beach to the vast farmlands with centuries-old olive trees. Ostuni, the white city, is a succession of arches, towers, palaces, courtyards, terraces, alleys, noble mansions and shops. Food lovers have to stop by Ceglie Messapica and Carovigno for a dinner in their famous restaurants and award-winning chefs. On the coast, there is an old coastal tower surrounded by ancient olive trees, Mediterranean vegetation, wetlands and tall sand dunes now become a Marine Protected Area and Nature Reserve: Torre Guaceto, to be discovered by ciclotrekking or seawatching.

SALENTO

A boarder land embraced by two seas, miles of coastline and where white sandy beaches give way to secret coves and cliffs.

The Ionian coast, from Marina di Pulsano down to Santa Maria di Leuca, is a succession of golden sands and low rocks, marine protected areas and Aleppo pine forests, eclectic villas and restaurants on the water. The Adriatic coastal road to Brindisi passes through Otranto and offers breathtaking views, especially in springtime when anemones, poppies and wild orchids are in full bloom. There's a hidden Salento made of underground monuments, underground presses, early Christian churches and caves. The visible Salento, distinguished by coastal towers and colombaie, dolmens and menhirs making this peninsula the largest megalithic garden in Europe. Immerse yourself in the atmospheres of the Oriental and the Middle Ages among the eleven towns of Grecia Salentina. Then admire the cities of the so-called "minor Baroque", Nardò, Galatone, Galatina, where you can visit the Basilica di Santa Caterina. Then straight to Lecce to discover the ineffable world of Baroque, with its cloisters, palaces, papier-mâché shops, the beautiful Santa Croce basilica and Piazza Duomo. If you like good wines, don't miss the journey around the lands of Negroamaro and Primitivo wine, especially Manduria. To discover lesser known parts of Puglia drive to Oria, dominated by the Castle of Frederick II from the 13th century or to Francavilla Fontana, with its old houses and medieval walls or to Mesagne with the beautiful Chiesa Matrice and its imposing castle. At sunset, enjoy a drink overlooking the inner harbour of Brindisi, sitting at a cafe on the Regina Margherita waterfront. This is one of the largest natural harbours in the Mediterranean, where two thousand years ago it was the major port for the Roman Empire and where the legendary company Valigie delle Indie sailed straight to Bombay in the nineteenth century.

Along the coast between Peschici and Vieste you can find the Gargano's most beautiful bays of fine sand. Among the most famous ones there is Baia di Manacore, overlooked by the historic Hotel Paglianza, an exclusive and panoramic spot, just a few steps from the sea, immersed in a pine forest rich in Mediterranean scrub. In the heart of an area that captures the essence of Gargano and its tourism history, Paglianza stands out as an oasis of peace, ideal for families that want to combine the thrill of discovery with the pleasure of rest. MASSERIA BANDINO & SPA

The Masseria Bandino, Hotel Restaurant and Spa it is located in the countryside of the village of Otranto (Salento).

A careful renovation of the ancient peasant structure from the 1700s has given us a perfect Salento Masseria today destined to welcome the most demanding tourists and travellers.

The Masseria was born close to the Otranto-Leuca Park, next to a private pine forest, in one of the most beautiful and evocative landscaped valleys just 1500 meters from the city beaches and the historic centre and just a few kilometres from the beautiful beaches of Alimini, the unspoiled Orte Bay, the suggestive Red Lake of bauxite and the iconic Punta Palascia Lighthouse where you can admire the first sunrise in Italy. Here, the scents of the forest and Mediterranean scrub mingle with the sea breeze.

Every breath you take becomes a gesture of self-love: it regenerates the body, relieves stress, you feel happier.
